Application stage 1 - Basic eligibility

The award is conferred to partnerships and programs with remarkable achievements during the two years preceding the current one. Applicants to the award must be an organization or institution with not-for-profit or charitable status. They have to be official partners in the partnership, but do not have to be the lead organization. There is no restriction as to where the project takes place, or whether it is local, national, supra-regional or global in scope.

Organizations can nominate their partnerships here until 31 August 2023. Selected organizations will then be invited to submit more detailed descriptions of their partnerships until 31 December 2023. All information has to be submitted in English or German. Supporting documents may also be in French or Spanish.

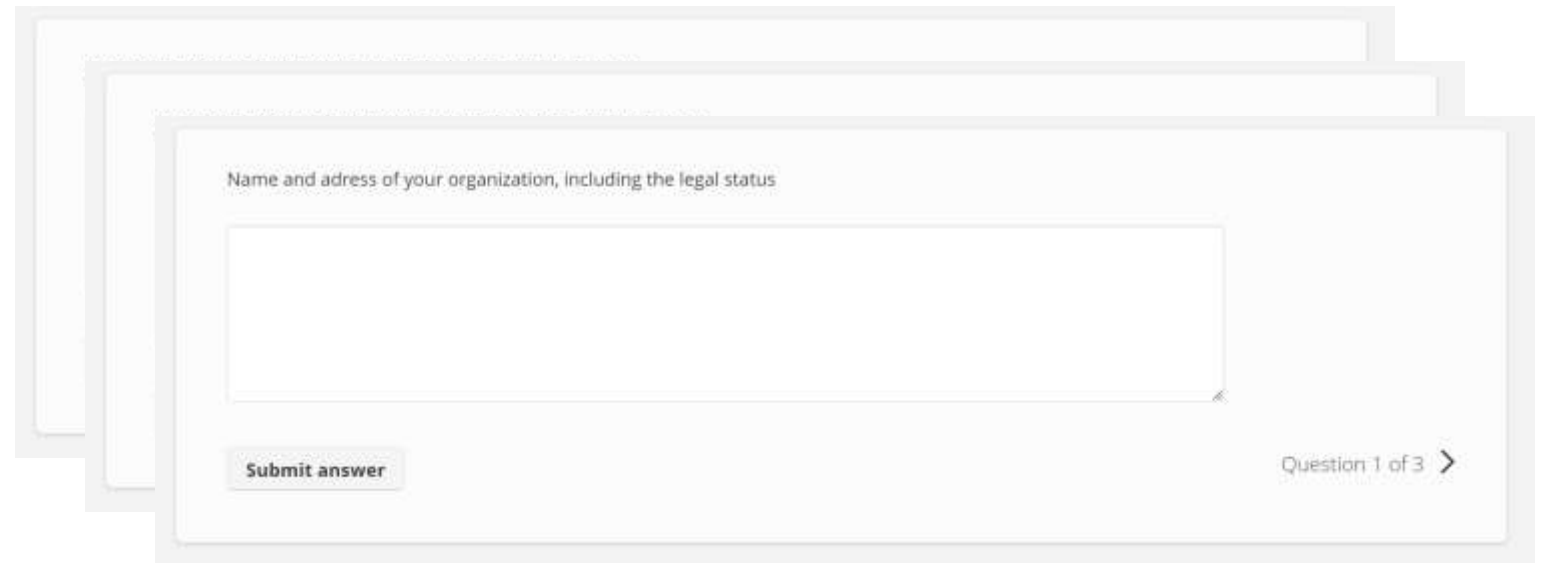

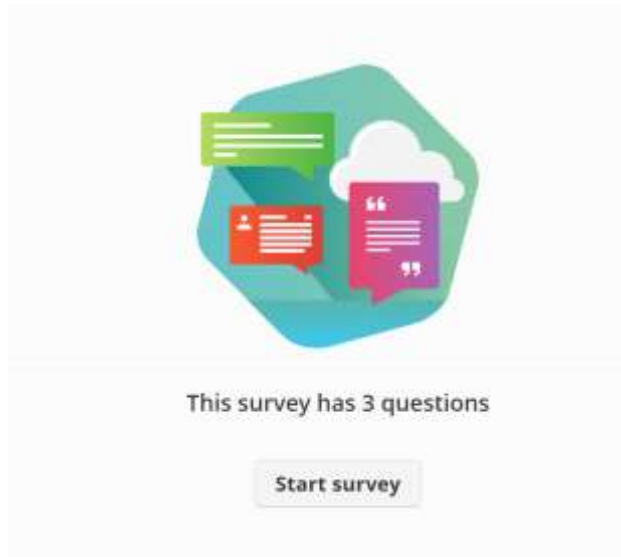

The winning institution/organization demonstrates that their partnership successfully contributed to transformative change related to sustainability, meeting several or all of the following criteria:

- Developed a partnership action that contributed to one or more SDGs in a multi-stakeholder collaboration with stakeholders from at least two sectors (public, private, civil society)
- Created value for all stakeholders involved that is reflected in joint strategies and implementation plans
- Ensured ownership, inclusive communication and governance across all key stakeholders in the partnership
Creates innovative results that actively embed the partnership action in larger sustainability transformation efforts

Application stage 1 - Information about the partnership

Answer 5 questions: name of partnership, if applicable partnership action name, sectors (q3: at least 2, civil society is a must!), start and duration (if not finished, write „from [start date] ongoing“), role (see examples given)

Application stage 1 - Overview of the partnership

Please give an overview of the partnership and why it should win this award (minimum 600 words and maximum 1500 words). Areas this could cover

- What was the change (structural, behavioral, cultural, individual) that was achieved, and why do you consider it transformative?
- What was the innovation and/ or unique added value that was only possible to be achieved in this partnership?
- What was your biggest challenge, and how did you address it?
- Why do you consider this partnership a contribution to sustainability?

Application stage 1 - Nomination submitted

Thank you for submitting a nomination to the CLI Transformative Partnership Award 2023!

We will let you know if you are invited to the next phase of the application in September 2023.

Complete

Confirm to submit your application.

You can start the application and continue anytime.

You can also always jump back to an earlier stage until you have submitted.

If you have submitted already and want to add an important info, contact germany@collectiveleadership.com.

Tips for application

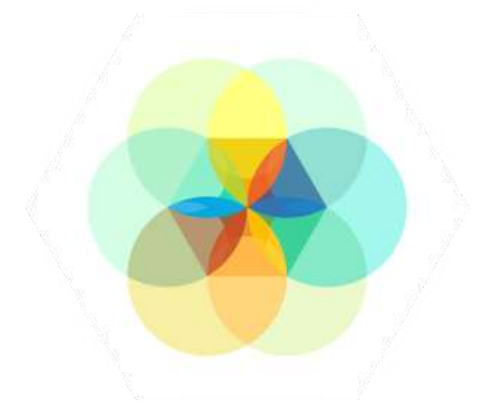

For stage 1: be clear and precise with your 2pager and check what CLI likes in its work (our approach and our impact pages on CLI's website), don't be shy to ask if you have a question, don't try to be perfect (there will be a stage 2!), rather authentic and innovative

For stage 2: the jury will be from different sectors (development cooperation, university, private sector, civil society), use your full application to convince them and reply authentically and precisely to their questions
